

Actionable Data for Administrators, Teachers, and Families

Edmentum Sensei brings data-rich analytics to life via intuitive charts, graphs, and visual cues for all key users of Plato Courseware and Edmentum Assessments. This interactive hub helps administrators, teachers, and family members stay up to date on student progress and activity.

Edmentum Sensei Program View for Administrators

Administrators, principals, and program directors can use the new program view in Sensei to track district progress, monitor account usage, and make data-driven decisions. This new view in Sensei helps district-level roles leverage their program data to:

- Visualize and track overall school, teacher, and student progress against key learning objectives and standards
- Monitor progress toward program goals
- Determine high-level usage trends across groups
- Aggregate data to guide instructional decisions

Edmentum Sensei for Teachers

Edmentum Sensei for teachers is a way for educators to seamlessly access and interact with actionable data to gain a real-time picture of what's going on in their classroom. Sensei helps teachers focus their attention where it is needed most and leverage their expertise to do what they do best.

Teachers can:

- Make faster, more informed decisions with robust analytics and app-like ease of use
- Monitor individual students' progress through a course or assignment
- Create groups to monitor progress of students based on skill, need, or structure of program
- Assign additional, built-to-standards content to create personalized learning paths for students
- Unlock mastery tests or reset passwords with one click

Edmentum Sensei for Families

Edmentum Sensei for Families provides parents and caregivers with insight into their student's progress and ongoing assignments. The online portal allows families to keep track of current assignments and monitor progress.

Families can:

- Stay in the know by viewing the work their student is assigned
- Follow their student's progress with real-time reports
- Keep up to date with their student's progress from anywhere, anytime, thanks to mobile-optimized technology
