

RESPONSE to Intervention

Support targeted intervention with proven programs

Edmentum offers two powerful programs to support your three-tier Response to Intervention (RTI) model. Exact Path and Study Island help educators identify students who are at risk, plan evidence-based interventions, and monitor ongoing progress.

The Edmentum difference:

- Adaptive diagnostic assessments or the ability to use data from our integration partners
- Flexible intrusion and practice to provide a personalized learning experience
- Real-time progress monitoring of skill mastery and standards proficiency
- Ideal for core instruction, small-group intervention, and 1:1 targeted support

Tier 1 – Universal Level

- High-quality, research-based core instruction
- Rigorous, relevant, and standards-driven curriculum

Tier 2 – Targeted Level

- Individualized supports for underachieving students
- Supplemental instruction on specific skills or concepts
- Meaningful one-on-one or small-group instruction

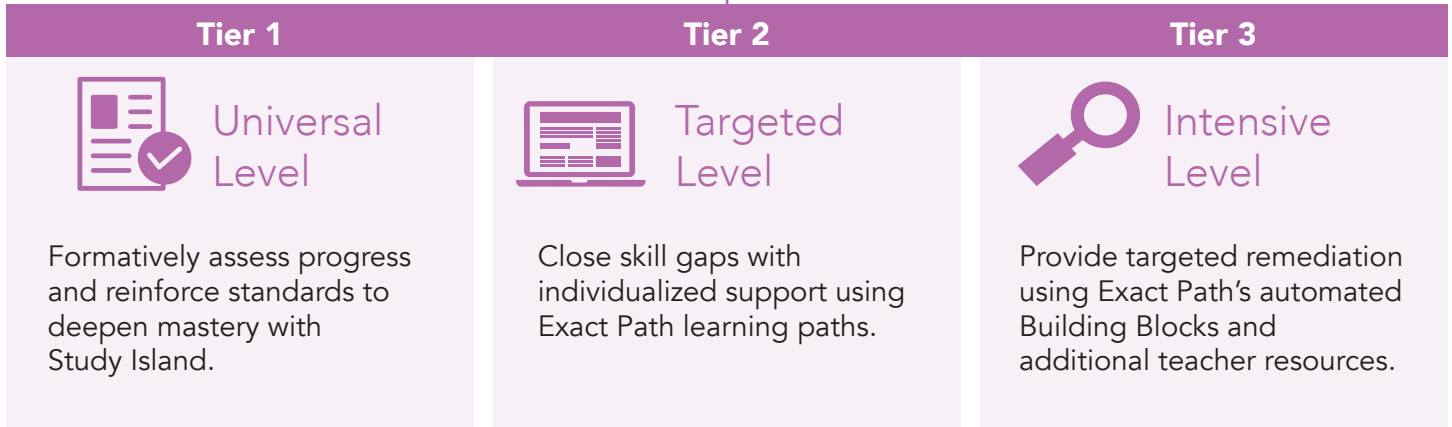

Tier 3 – Intensive Level

- Individualized supports for students with significant underachievement
- Intensive skill-specific interventions
- Differentiated interventions scaffolded for each student

Structure a Successful RTI Program

Administer Exact Path adaptive diagnostic assessment to all students. Alternately, use data from one of our assessment partners, Renaissance or NWEA.

Review diagnostic results and leverage grouping tools to isolate program needs and organize students into tiers.

Exact Path

Study Island

Assess academic needs using our adaptive diagnostic assessments or data from Renaissance or NWEA.

Utilize individualized learning paths made up of dynamic K-12 curriculum aligned to key skills and standards.

Guide focused interventions and keep stakeholders informed with valid growth measures and skill progress data.

Deliver ongoing formative assessments, track grade level standards mastery, and monitor progress.

Offer targeted practice to deepen proficiency and spiral learning.

Prepare all students for state assessments through standards-based and state-test aligned items.
