

Professional Learning Community Cohorts

Flexible, virtual collaboration for implementation success

Creating an environment to increase student outcomes is something all educators strive for. With professional learning communities (PLCs), educators who are newly implementing are given the opportunity to collaborate with other program users from around the country while they develop their program knowledge. This creates the perfect forum for sharing creative ideas, success stories, and best practices.

Professional Learning Community cohorts are available for:

- ✓ Study Island
- ✓ Reading Eggs

Each PLC includes five consecutive weeks of sessions led by an Edmentum consultant. During a PLC Cohort experience, you should expect:

- A virtual learning environment where participants can join the meeting from any location
- An experienced facilitator to foster collaboration and support implementation

The 5-week PLC for each program includes the following styles of sessions:
